What am I really like?

'First, look at your heart line, which is symbolic of emotion and sensitivity,' says Hardeep. 'The further towards your index finger this line is, the more sensitive, kind and caring you are.' And if you always beat your man at Scrabble, check out your head line. 'If it goes all the way across the palm, you're logical and headstrong,' says Hardeep. 'You're also a good judge of character, though you see things in black and white. If your head line has a downward arch, you're creative and keen to listen and give others the benefit of the doubt.'

Will I be happy?

'Your life line tells you how fulfilled, healthy and stable your life's likely to be,' says Hardeep. 'A long, deep line suggests that you love life, you're energetic and make the most of what you have.' What if it's short and faint? Time to have a word with yourself: you're not that ambitious, are you? 'If you want to reach your goals you're going to need to work hard,' Hardeep warns. 'And if you have a series of short lines down the outside edge of your palm, you could be set for a life of travel.' Better dust off your backpack!

Will I be successful?

'If you've got a strong, straight fate line the chances are you're going to be your boss's boss one day,' says Hardeep. 'This almost always indicates great success in your career.' Just remember that next time you're making the tea! And if there are branches coming off your fate line, your luck doesn't stop there. 'These represent small career ventures you may go off on,' explains Hardeep. But brace yourself. 'If your fate line starts and stops again in the middle of your palm, it means you may be unemployed for a bit,' he warns. On the other hand (erm, not literally), a long line down the side of your palm, running from below your little finger towards your wrist, means you may work overseas.

Will I be rich?

This depends on a few things. First, see if you have a success line – the vertical crease beneath your ring finger. 'If you've got one, your chances of success are boosted, and if it's deep, you might even be famous,' explains Hardeep. Now look for your fate line. If that's strong and your life line has small branches coming off it, you'll be a self-made wealthy woman! 'If you don't have a strong fate line but there are still branches off your life line, you might come into money through a competition, inheritance or marriage,' says Hardeep.
